In the 58th year of Hurricane football, the 50th Anniversary year of the Orange Bowl Classic and in the 18th year of the Dolphins, Miami remains the football capital of America.

Dedication

The 1983 University of Miami football guide is dedicated to the memory of the late Wilbert Bach who passed away Dec. 10. He became the UM's first sports information director in the 1930s and maintained a working link with the sports publicity program until he died at age 82. "I've never known a kinder man that Wilbert Bach," said former UM football coach Walt Kichefski, who first met Bach as a player in 1936. Kind. Loyal. A loving husband to his wife Margaret who still lives in Miami, Wilbert Bach is dearly missed by the UM sports community.

MEDIA INFORMATION

INTERVIEW POLICY: All interviews with UM players and coaches should be scheduled through the Sports Information Office. The best time to talk with Coach Schnellenberger is between 12 noon and 1 p.m. weekdays, but these interviews must be scheduled as well. Players are available for interviews through the Thursday evening practice. No interviews Friday. To arrange these sessions call the SID office at (305) 284-5802.

PRACTICE ATTENDANCE: While all practice sessions, beginning with the week of the first game, are closed to the general public, working news media are invited to attend all practice sessions. If you intend to cover practice in Miami, stop at the UM Sports Information Office first to receive a special pass. Both writers and TV photographers are limited to working from the sideline area designated by the UM staff. Call in advance of attending Friday practices prior to home games since the Hurricanes may work out at either the Greentree Practice Field on campus or the Orange Bowl. THE UM LOCKER ROOM, TRAINING ROOM AND WEIGHT ROOM ARE OFF-LIMITS TO THE MEDIA THROUGHOUT THE SEASON.

PRESS CREDENTIALS: Credentials for UM home games are to be used by the working media only. We ask that members of the media make their requests two weeks in advance. Letters will, of course, also be accepted. Requests from media covering UM opponents will be confirmed with the visiting school's SID staff.

PARKING PASSES: Parking is limited but normally available to persons requesting such passes well in advance.

TELEPHONES: It is recommended that media with deadline concerns order phones by calling Southern Bell at (305) 883-1471. Give Ron Steiner as a contact.

STATISTICS/ SERVICES: Complete game statistics, play-by-play and post-game quotes will be provided at all UM home games. Running play-by-play sheets and stats will be distributed at the quarters, halftime and at the end of the game. Pre-game refreshments will be served. Meal tickets will be distributed. UM will arrange for telecopier service at a rate of $15 per story.

POST-GAME INTERVIEWS: Members of the working media can depart the fourth level of the press box with five minutes remaining in the game. UM staff will direct media to the Miami locker room located at the field level under the closed end of the stadium.

SPOTTERS: These aides can be provided at the established fee of $15 payable to the individual hired. Make requests known one week in advance of the game.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Field photographers MUST WEAR THE PROPER CREDENTIALS AT ALL TIMES. NCAA rules limit shooting to outside the restraining line enclosing the playing field and outside the 30-yard lines as designated by the team areas. Requests should be made two weeks in advance. No freelance passes will be distributed.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Allen's Studio serves as the official photography unit for UM Football, both home and away. Special requests can be directed to Bob and Sylvia Allen at (305) 945-8140 or 945-5003.

WEEKLY PRESS CONFERENCES: Coach Howard Schnellenberger hosts a press conference each Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Hall of Fame Room of the Hecht Athletic Center. Opponent coaches of the week are contacted via amplified phone hook-up for the benefit of the media.

DIAL-A-COACH: A daily service of recorded messages, notes, interviews and stat updates is provided via the new UM Dial-A-Coach system. The system also will receive your messages if for some reason you can not reach the UM SID Office. PHONE (305) 284-2680 or 284-2681.

HURRICANES ON NETWORK TELEVISION

In what may develop as the most widely viewed TV game from the Orange Bowl since Super Bowl XIII in 1979, the Miami Hurricanes will meet the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame at 9 p.m. on September 24. CBS Sports will televise the game nationally as its prime time kickoff to the 1983 season of telecasts.

CBS announced the TV arrangement this past March. Originally UM was to have played Notre Dame on Nov. 26 and East Carolina on Sept. 24. But the East Carolina contest was moved to Nov. 5 and the Notre Dame moved to accommodate the TV date.

In 1981 Miami and Notre Dame met in a nationally televised game at the Orange Bowl. The Hurricanes won that one 37-15 as Jim Kelly set the UM all-time career passing record and UM finished the season with a 9-2 record.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI
A GLOBAL UNIVERSITY IN A GLOBAL CITY

Founded in 1925, the University of Miami is the largest private institution of higher learning in the Southeast and one of the largest in the South. While nearly 60 percent of the University's 14,658 credit-seeking students are from Florida, all 50 states and 106 foreign countries are represented in the student body, making the University of Miami truly international and cosmopolitan.

The main campus is situated in the City of Coral Gables, hemispheric headquarters for trade between Europe, the United States, Latin America and the Caribbean. From this unique geographic location, the University stands poised to cast its network of learning opportunities in an ever-widening circle, reaching across seas to other continents.

Two major schools are located on separate campuses: in metropolitan Miami, the School of Medicine is the hub of the University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Medical Center, and on Virginia Key and Fisher Island in Biscayne Bay, the Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science is the Center of an extensive oceanographic complex. An additional 106 acres of property at the South Campus brings the University's total acreage to 411.

Committed to academic excellence, the University offers 118 degree-granting programs in 100 areas of study to undergraduates and 209 programs at the master's and doctoral level. These programs are offered through the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Engineering, the Schools of Architecture, Business Administration, Continuing Studies, Education, Law, Marine and Atmospheric Science, Medicine, Music, Nursing, the Graduate School and the new Graduate School of International Studies.

At the University's intellectual heart are the libraries which contain more than 1,500,000 volumes.

In recognition of the quality of the institution's programs in the College of Arts and Sciences, the University was awarded the right to shelter a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's oldest and most prestigious honor society. From a field of nearly 2,000 American colleges and universities, there are only 234 which have met the Phi Beta Kappa charter requirements.

The University of Miami ranks 39th in the nation in terms of volume of research and sponsored programs, and third in the South in total obligations for federal support.

Since 1926 when it formed the first symphony orchestra for the community, the University has placed strong emphasis on appreciation and performance of the arts. It has contributed greatly to the cultural life of the area through programs in music and drama and the Lowe Art Museum. Similarly, the University prides itself in helping provide solutions to problems. Nearly every department in the University contributes to the education or welfare of the community through its expertise, resources or personnel.

With some 5,200 faculty and staff, the University of Miami is one of Dade County's largest private employers. Its annual economic impact on the Greater Miami area is estimated at $1 billion. Its budget equals nearly one-third of that amount.

Fifty percent of the University's 81,000 alumni have graduated in the past 10 years, and 55 percent still live and work in Florida.

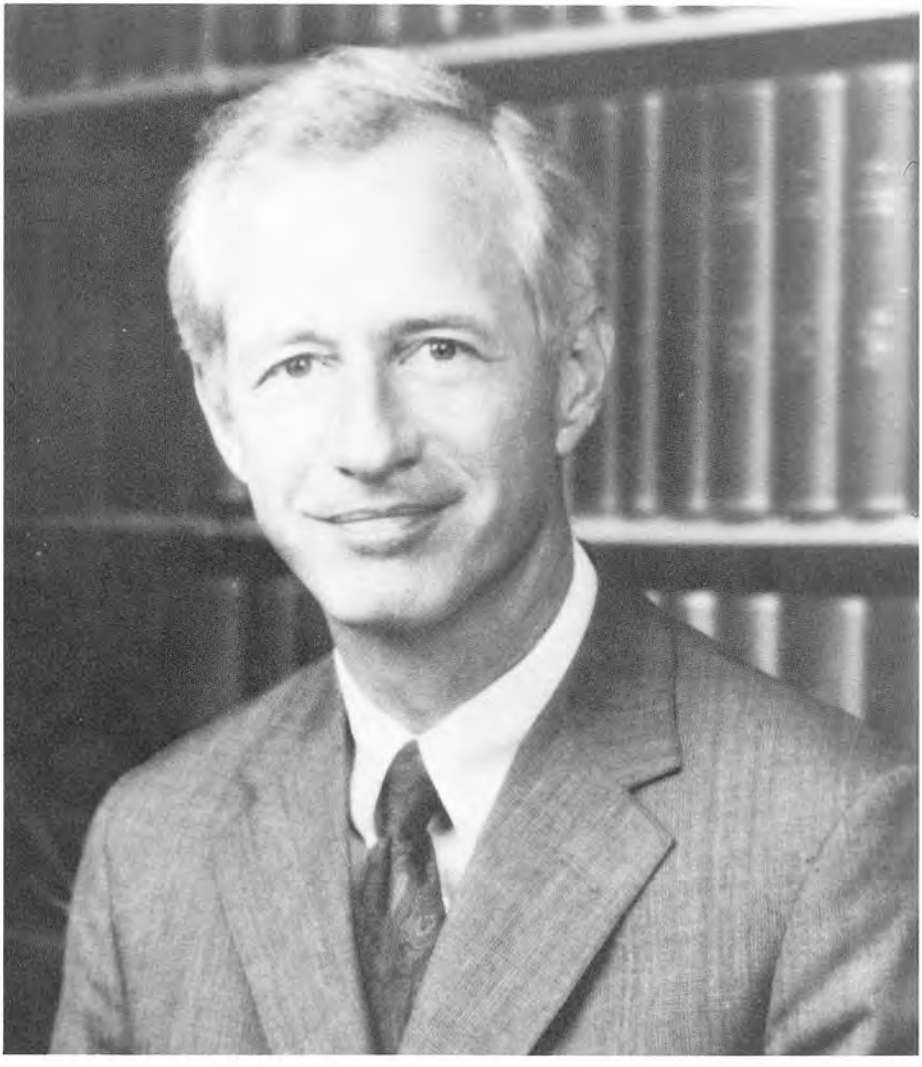
UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

A private, independent, international university • An equal opportunity/affirmative action employer

Coral Gables Campus



EDWARD T. FOOTE II
PRESIDENT

Fall 1983 finds Edward Thaddeus "Tad" Foote II entering his third year as president of the University of Miami. He is the fourth person to hold the office in the 57-year history of this institution.

A midwesterner of boundless energy and enthusiasm, President Foote has brought to the University leadership skills forged at Yale University and Georgetown University Law Center, where he earned a law degree. He practiced law in St. Louis before joining the administration of Washington University as dean of the law school for seven years and special advisor to the university chancellor and Board of Trustees.

"The coming together of the destinies of a young but extraordinary city and a young but remarkably accomplished university make Miami a place of global significance. There is a great deal of strength here. I don't know of a university in the United States that has a more interesting future as far down the road as I can see," said the president.

And what of that future? According to President Foote, the University must be devoted to outstanding performance; there is no room for mediocrity. "There is simply no justification for the existence of a private university unless it does all of its work well and some of it uniquely well," he said.

One of the president's first actions following his inauguration was the creation of visiting committees for each of the schools and major divisions of the University. These committees, each chaired by a member of the Board of Trustees, are comprised of alumni, community leaders, nationally recognized experts, members of the faculty of other universities and others. They have been charged with the responsibility of assisting the UM in a thorough, objective evaluation of the work presently being done here, the quality and place of that work in this University, and national and international trends in the area under study.

Additionally, President Foote commissioned a special task force to examine how the University could best help the community deal with the problems it is currently facing and how the University contributes to the quality of life in South Florida.

The president's vision for the University also includes capitalizing on the geographic location of this institution as the emerging crossroads of the western hemisphere. His proposals include the establishment of a scholarly center modeled on the East-West Center in Hawaii. In 1982 he journeyed to Peru with representatives of the UM Medical School to meet with the Peruvian National Council for Science and Technology to negotiate an exchange program in general and medical education with Peruvian universities. He also met with the Peruvian ministers of health, education and foreign affairs to explore ways in which this University might be able to work with them to improve the country's educational capabilities at the primary and secondary level. During this trip, President Foote was awarded the Order of the Sun—the highest honor given by the Peruvian Government—by Peru's President Fernando Belaunde Terry, a UM alumnus.

Other high priorities on the president's list for the UM include strengthening the tropical sciences programs in the fields of botany, zoology, and medicine, building the international business program to national preeminence and expanding the reach and reputation of the Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science, already one of the nation's top three centers for marine study.

"The oceans, the last frontier on this planet, flood the imagination with promise of new sources of food and energy in a time of threatened starvation in some underdeveloped nations and exhaustion of traditional sources of energy. At such a point in human history, research institutions devoted to an understanding of the oceans and atmosphere assume a special importance," said the president.

SAM JANKOVICH ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

He is a builder. A worker. A man who plans to make good things happen at Miami . . . and quickly.

Sam Jankovich, 49, who was named Athletic Director at the University of Miami on July 15, 1983, will call on his extensive administrative experience to direct one of the nation's most visible collegiate athletic programs.

For the past eight years he and his wife Patty have served as the "First Family" of the Washington State University athletic department.

July 18 they were welcomed to Miami by UM President Edward T. Foote and Vice-President for Business and Finance David Lieberman at a news conference on the Coral Gables campus. The same day the Jankovichs met current athletic personnel and pledged a family-type administrative style. Later that evening they were honored at a reception by top community leaders and boosters. Two days later he toured South Florida on a whistlestop train excursion, meeting with media and fans.

In his first three days Jankovich had already shaken thousands of hands and awakened many more fans to what he projects as an exciting period of growth for the Hurricanes, a program he points out already enjoys national prominence.

The new director hopes to be a catalyst for the development of an on-campus football stadium. Citing the fact that Miami is the only Division IA program without basketball, Jankovich lists reinstitution of the sport high on his priority chart.

While at Washington State, Jankovich inspired a $7.5 million building boom that included the renovation and expansion of Martin Stadium to 40,000 capacity, a new track and field complex, a new baseball stadium and the addition of modern offices, locker rooms and a weight room.

Yet at the same time he established financial stability for the program, reducing its annual deficit from $400,000 a year to almost zero. He merged the women's and men's programs into a single unit as the WSU Cougars went to their first bowl game in 50 years (Holiday, 1981) and played in the NCAA basketball tournament two of the past four years. The track team won a Pac-10 Conference title and the total program gained national respect.

Development of support personnel to aid the players and coaches in their progress has been another Jankovich trademark. At Washington State he added a number of full-time positions—an academic counselor, a sales and promotions director, a strength coach and a business manager. The Cougar radio network was expanded greatly.

During his tenure as assistant athletic director Jankovich was responsible for the operation of the WSU Cougar Club; he more than doubled the membership while tripling the contribution level.

HEAD COACH HOWARD SCHNELLENBERGER

THE REBIRTH OF A PROGRAM

• Since becoming head football coach at Miami on January 8, 1979, Howard Schnellenberger has orchestrated one of college football's most dramatic revivals. In the previous four years UM had won only 14 games while losing 29. But since Schnellenberger's arrival the Hurricanes have been one of America's Top 20 winners with a 30-15 record.

• Over the past three years the Hurricanes have posted a 25-9 record, a winning percentage of .735.

• Once perceived as a fading program, Miami has recently been identified as a regional and national television attraction. UM appeared on Network TV only once in the five years before Schnellenberger. But since he has been in charge, the school has been featured by ABC or CBS eleven times, winning nine of those.

• Already for 1983 Schnellenberger and the Hurricanes will be featured on CBS for a nationally televised, prime time (9 p.m.) game against Notre Dame at the Orange Bowl. "It's quite a statement about just how far our program has come," said Schnellenberger. "The fact that CBS would commit to this game in the Spring and show such confidence in our team to perform on such a major event is gratifying." CBS will offer only one such game this year.

ESTABLISHING CREDIBILITY

• In the ten years prior to Schnellenberger's first at Miami, the school had experienced six head coaching changes. Now continuity has taken over as the veteran coach begins his fifth season, only the fourth UM head coach to do so since the sport began at Miami in 1926. Only three of the previous 14 coaches show more career victories. He renewed his commitment on December 10, 1981 by signing a new five-year contract which was announced by University President Edward T. Foote.

• When new NCAA policies necessitated coaching staff changes this spring, Schnellenberger exercised his belief to promote from within and re-emphasized his intent to give the program stability.

• With the addition of 26 incoming freshmen to a group of 17 frosh who were held out of competition last year, UM will enter the '83 season with a nucleus of 43 freshmen. They will combine with a carefully developed group of varsity players to provide the basis for continued success for the Hurricanes.

HOME AT THE ORANGE BOWL

• Since Schnellenberger made it a priority at the beginning, the Hurricanes have won 19 of 21 games in the fabled Orange Bowl. In 1979 UM was 4-0, in 1980 4-1, in '81 6-0 and in '82 Miami finished 5-1 at the O.B. Between its two losses, UM won 11 consecutive games at home.

MILESTONE VICTORIES

• Memorable moments have marked Miami's rapid progress on the field. The first came in 1979 at State College, Pa., when Jim Kelly made his first start at quarterback, and UM stunned Penn State 26-10.

• In 1980 the Hurricanes edged bowl-bound Florida State 10-9 with heroic defense in the final seconds. Later that year UM won its first bowl championship since 1966, a 20-10 victory over Virginia Tech in the Peach Bowl. UM claimed the Sunshine State title.

• In 1981 the 'Canes opened with a 21-20 win over Florida on Danny Miller's 55-yard field goal in the final minute. Later in the season UM upset then-No. 1 Penn State 17-14 on national TV and followed that with an emotional 27-19 triumph at Florida State. Miami finished the season by crushing Notre Dame 37-15 on national TV to finish 9-2 against the nation's fourth toughest schedule. Miami finished No. 8 in the final Associated Press poll, UM claimed its second consecutive state title and its first Top 10 finish since 1968.

• In 1982, after losing Heisman candidate Kelly to a shoulder injury, UM came on to win three of its next four games and produce an overall 7-4 mark. Freshman Kyle Vanderwende started the final three games, winning two and completing 60 percent of his passes.

FOR THE RECORD

• After introducing the complex pro passing attack to Miami football, Schnellenberger saw his formula produce new UM total offensive records in both 1980 and 1981.

• Individuals made their marks. Jim Kelly became the all-time top passer, eclipsing the famed George Mira's records for career yardage and touchdowns plus single season passing yardage. Dan Miller became the all-time career scorer, the single season kick scoring leader and set the single game field goal mark. Larry Brodsky set new receiving records while Scott Nicolas ('81) became the school's all-time top tackler, surpassing Ted Hendricks' record. Fred Marion set a new UM career interception mark.

• Miami's back to back 9-3 and 9-2 seasons in 1980 and 1981 produced the best two-year success skein in UM history.

• And when two games (Penn State and Notre Dame) were televised nationally in 1981, it represented another first for UM in a single season.

ALUMNI COMING BACK

• The win over Penn State started it. The Peach Bowl title fueled it. Then the great '81 performances on national television united UM Alumni as perhaps never before.

• This past spring brought a new mobilization of support as Schnellenberger invited former players to return to campus for a spring game. Stars such as Chuck Foreman, Ted Hendricks and George Mira returned for the first Alumni Game as a crowd of nearly 5,000 fans braved rainy weather to attend the contest won by the Varsity 21-13. Already Schnellenberger has scheduled the encore Alumni Weekend for April, 1984 with plans for increased seating capacity and numerous activities to further unify the fans and Alumni.

• Early in his career at UM Schnellenberger concentrated recruiting and promotional efforts in an area he labelled the "State of Miami"—a zone reaching north in the state to Tampa and Orlando. In '82 a Tampa Area Boosters Group was formed. In May Schnellenberger was featured at another new support group function: "Dinner at Disney World with Howard Schnellenberger." Nationwide, Alumni groups held dinner meetings featuring the head coach in Chicago and New York City for the first time.

PART OF MIAMI

• Community involvement has been as much of an identifying factor for the Miami program as winning has since Schnellenberger became head coach. For example, Schnellenberger continues to serve as co-chairman of Partners for Youth, a vital local effort to provide direct assistance to more than 150,000 individual youth via summer jobs and year-round recreational and cultural programs. Sharing the co-chairman duties are Leslie Pantin, Jr., an insurance executive and Al Dotson, a Sears executive. Partners meets each Wednesday morning at the Hecht Athletic Center on campus.

• The Sept. 24 game with Notre Dame has been designated as the "Partners for Youth Classic," the third annual observance, begun by Schnellenberger to recognize the positive value of the Partners movement.

• From helping the Boy Scouts to serving as a director for the annual Easter Seal Society drive, the UM head coach has earned respect throughout the community for his off the field work. The local Gold Coast Chamber of Commerce, which had never honored a sports figure, named Schnellenberger as its Man of the Year following last season.

LEADING THE WAY

• Schnellenberger has been appointed by Florida Governor Bob Graham to serve on a special committee studying the impact of new NCAA legislation regarding academic standards for athletes.

• This fall the Hurricane football coaches and players will initiate a series of radio and television spots plus personal appearances to help encourage students in the Dade County School District toward more concern for academics.

REACHING OUT TO MIAMI

• In an effort to upgrade the program's season ticket base, Schnellenberger initiated a personal appeal to Miami's corporate and community leaders this spring, requesting major commitments. The first meeting, hosted by Knight-Ridder CEO Alvah Chapman, produced orders for nearly 2,000 new season tickets. Additional meetings were held and more new orders received. New clubs, such as the Taurus Athletic Association, organized to help. Leaders in neighboring Broward County gathered to develop new interest and orders. Members of the Latin Community organized. So did social organizations and service groups. Corporations, clubs and individuals were targeted as potential season ticket purchasers. And when the final count is in this September, UM may approach 25,000 season tickets, the school's all-time record, after selling less than 15,000 in 1982.

HOWLING HURRICANES SUPER FANS

• For the third consecutive year the Howling Hurricanes Super Fans Organization will be actively working to add fans, color and excitement to UM games at the Orange Bowl. The brainchild of long-time 'Cane fan Ed Holmes, Administrative Vice President of Aero Systems, the Howling Hurricanes feature a complete program of marketing and promotions to stimulate the sale of season tickets, reach out to numerous business, service and student groups, as well as individuals, and generally increase awareness and support for the University. Inquiries should be directed to Holmes at (305) 888-8885 or mailed to P.O. Box 66-1717, Miami Springs, Fla. 33266-1717.

SCHNELLENBERGER QUOTES ON '83

The Quarterbacks:

"I had hoped that we could have a definite No. 1 quarterback at the end of spring practice. But that hasn't happened. Still I'm not concerned. We are fortunate to have three outstanding passers on the team. Together they passed for 600 yards in our final scrimmage. They all have big league throwing arms. One will take charge this fall. And when he does, we'll go with him. I don't want to use the revolving quarterback system."

The Schedule:

"Starting on the road at Florida and then at Houston, then returning home against Purdue and Notre Dame is a great opportunity for our football team to start off a new era at Miami in a big way. Later in the year we play teams like Mississippi State and Florida State on the road and West Virginia in Miami. So overall, while we have six on the road and five at home, the schedule does give us a chance to attract national attention. It's the kind of schedule we're used to playing—top teams from throughout the country. I expect that our team will do well. We have the ability to develop into a bowl contender by season's end. It's a tribute to the development of the program that CBS has chosen our fourth game of the season (Notre Dame) as its only national prime time telecast."

The Offense:

"Certainly our team will have some new names. Graduation claimed Jim Kelly (first-round pick of Buffalo in the NFL draft) plus three, three-year starters on the offensive line, along with two outstanding receivers (Mark Rush, RB and Rocky Belk, WR). But I believe our program is at the point where we can develop new talent and continue winning like the past three years. We will continue to use the passing game as the primary threat. But I expect our running game to be even more effective this season. We'll make the opponents defend the entire field. Our receivers, including the tight end, have the speed to go deep. We'll use some reverses and screens. We'll make them prepare for the whole package. Basically, our system of throwing the ball will stay the same."

The Defense:

"We're experienced on defense with only a few questions to answer. Linebacker Jay Brophy was our team MVP last year. He can be one of the nation's best this year. And up front we have unusual quickness at middle guard (Tony Fitzpatrick) and tackle (Fred Robinson). The secondary is experienced, except for one corner position. We moved two of our top defensive backs to wide receiver—Reggie Sutton and Eddie Brown, so I'm confident the secondary will get the job done."

The Kicking Game:

"Jeff Davis returns as our placekicker. He is an excellent kickoff man. Last year he had one of the most productive scoring seasons in our history. I look for Jeff to have an even better senior season. He has 55-yard range on field goals. But in the punting department, we'll be looking for a new man for the job for the first time in four years. Right now Jacinto Fernandez (linebacker) and Kyle Vanderwende (QB) are listed to punt. But we have signed Rick Tuten, a freshman with a 46-yard average in high school and expect him to eventually take over."

FLORIDA 17, MIAMI 14

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 4, 1982—The four-year stranglehold the University of Miami had held on Florida Gator football came tumbling down in the season opener when Vince Jones made a circus catch of a 17-yard Wayne Peace pass and fell to a sun-soaked endzone on Florida Field with less than two minutes remaining in the game.

The score pushed the Gators ahead of Miami, 17-14, and proved the winning margin when the Hurricanes' ensuing drive came up short.

For Miami, it was the first loss to the Gators since 1977, and postponed for at least two more seasons UM's bid to even the series, which now stands at 23-21 in Florida's favor.

Cumulative UM Record: 0-1

MIAMI 31, HOUSTON 12

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 11, 1982—Sparked by three Mark Rush touchdowns, the Hurricanes put together 351 yards in total offense to defeat Houston 31-12. It was Miami's third victory over the Cougars in as many years.

Rush took a 16-yard Jim Kelly pass into the endzone, and also leaped to paydirt from two yards out to pace UM's scoring in the first. He hit again from two yards away in the third quarter to complete his 18-point afternoon.

Rover back Ken Calhoun, who had responsibility for Houston's pitch man off of the veer attack, racked up 13 tackles on the day to lead Miami's defense.

MIAMI 14, VIRGINIA TECH 8

BLACKSBURG, Va., Sept. 18, 1982—In what was certainly the most costly win of the year, the Hurricanes emerged from Virginia Tech's Lane Stadium with a 14-8 victory but in the process lost quarterback Jim Kelly to a shoulder separation.

Hanging on to a 14-0 lead in the fourth quarter, the UM defense had to play with its back to the wall in holding off a Hokie come-from-behind try. Playing in front of a CBS regional TV audience, Tech scored a touchdown and hit on a two-point conversion with 39 seconds left in the game, but UM's Rodney Bellinger picked off a last-ditch pass at the buzzer to hold off VPI's game-winning threat.

Tony Chickillo was named Associated Press Defensive Lineman of the Week for his performance, which included eight tackles, one sack and a blocked field goal.

MIAMI 28, LOUISVILLE 6

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2, 1982—Displaying his unique style of running and catching a football, fullback Speedy Neal scored three times to pace Miami to a win over Louisville at Cardinal Stadium.

Neal punched through with scoring runs of one and two yards, and then rambled 16-yards into the endzone after snaring a Mark Richt pass over the middle.

On defense, the Hurricanes picked off a total of five Cardinal passes, with Ron Lippett and Ken Calhoun each accounting for two. Defensive tackle Fred Robinson contributed with three sacks of Louisville quarterback Dean May.

NOTRE DAME 16, MIAMI 14

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 9, 1982—With less than two minutes to play, it appeared as though Miami would hold off Notre Dame and the ghosts of Rockne Stadium. But on this day, the luck of the Irish prevailed.

Despite a Rodney Bellinger interception of a Blair Kiel pass late in the fourth, the Irish got the ball back and marched into Hurricane territory where Mike Johnston hit a 32-yard field goal with 11 seconds left to give ND the win.

Miami, which had defeated the Irish only twice since 1955, was seeking its first win ever at South Bend. Mark Richt threw two scoring passes for Miami, including a 79-yarder to Rocky Belk which gave UM its fourth quarter lead.

MIAMI 31, MISSISSIPPI STATE 14

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 16, 1982—Speedy Neal rushed for three second half touchdowns to erase a halftime deficit and lead Miami to a 31-14 victory over Mississippi State, victors over the 'Canes the two previous seasons.

The Bulldogs, in fact, struck the only blemish on UM's home-field mark up to that point since Howard Schnellenberger became head coach. Their 1980 victory in the Orange Bowl was Miami's only defeat at home in 18 games since 1979.

Neal's efforts came from five, one and four yards out. Mark Richt closed the game with a two-yard scoring run. Linebacker Jay Brophy racked up 18 tackles, picked off a Bulldog pass and recovered a fumble.

FLORIDA STATE 24, MIAMI 7

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 30, 1982—Florida State shook off its Orange Bowl jinx and Miami's home streak as well in handing the Hurricanes their most lopsided defeat of the year.

Down 10-0 at the half, UM drove 80 yards on its second possession of the third quarter to punch in its first points of the game. Keith Griffin did the honors from the one.

But the 'Noles put together a pair of fourth quarter TDs to move way ahead, and pick up their first win in four tries at the historic Orange Bowl since 1978.

MARYLAND 18, MIAMI 17

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 6, 1982—Starting at quarterback for the first time, freshman Kyle Vanderwende displayed the poise of a veteran in facing Top-20 Maryland. Vanderwende's 16 of 28 for 192 yards was as much as anyone could ask of the youngster, but his final drive came up empty when Jeff Davis pushed a field goal attempt to the right with 12 seconds remaining.

Davis had earlier hit field goals of 25, 36 and 46 yards. Keith Griffin added a six-yard TD run for UM. Jay Brophy had 17 tackles from his linebacker position.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 20, 1982—It was a day of firsts as the Hurricanes blew past N.C. State in the Orange Bowl. UM's win over the Wolfpack marked the first college touchdown passes for freshman QBs Kyle Vanderwende and Vinnie Testaverde and also saw junior fullback Albert Bentley pick up his first career TD.

Vanderwende tossed strikes of 60 and 20 yards to split man Rocky Belk, while Testaverde found tight end Andy Baratta for a 25-yard scoring play in the fourth quarter.

MIAMI 19, CINCINNATI 13

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 27, 1982—In what senior center Don Bailey called "a typical ending to an unusual season," the Miami defense held off Cincinnati on the 'Canes own one yard line as time ran out on the 1982 campaign with UM ahead.

Almost obscured by the dramatic finish was Speedy Neal's 110 yards rushing, the first 100-yard-plus game for a UM runner in over two years. The game marked the end of college football for 17 UM seniors who led Miami to more wins in a three-year period than any other time in UM history.

ORANGE BOWL STADIUM
HOME OF THE HURRICANES

Address: 1400 N.W. 4th Street, Gate 7,
Miami, Florida 33125, or
P.O. Box 350748, Miami, Florida 33135

Permanent Seating Capacity: 75,500

Press Box: Upper level can accommodate 85 writers plus radio announcers and film cameras. A lower deck is used for network TV as well as the UM Federation major contributors.

Stadium Dedication: December 10, 1937 during a UM - University of Georgia football game. The seating capacity was 22,000.

Stadium Expansion: In 1947 double-decking and the construction of wings was completed. Later a complete filling of the west end zones with both upper and lower deck seats raised the capacity of the stadium to 75,385. 1975 brought the addition of east end zone seating making the capacity 80,010. In 1977 the east end zone seats were removed, reducing the capacity to its present level.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

1983 thrust the University of Miami women's athletic program into the national spotlight with an NCAA champion, three All-Americans and one of the country's premier basketball events on campus.

The Hurricanes won their fifth national individual golf championship when Penny Hammel posted a 248 total to finish six shots ahead of her closest competitor. The junior entered the NCAAs ranked as the country's top golfer with a 72.3 average. She joins Cathy Morse, Ann Laughlin, Roberta Albers and Judy Eller as UM champions. She led UM to a sixth place team finish.

The UM tennis squad annually ranks among the nation's best because of its ability to attract the country's top talent. Mary Dailey and Marlin Noriega joined the long list of Hurricane All-Americans this season after they reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA doubles competition. It was Noriega's second year as an All-American. Five other UM players have earned that honor.

Basketball fanatics are annually treated to practically nonstop action in UM's Hurricane Classic December 28 through January 5. The 1983-84 event will include 41 college squads with four community colleges and four high schools. Some of the country's top talent will be on display including Penn State, Missouri, Indiana, Stanford, Memphis State and Wisconsin.

MEN'S ATHLETICS

The Miami men's athletic teams continued their winning tradition in 1983. Reliever Dave Eichhorn led the Hurricane baseball team to a 61-21 record and its 11th consecutive regional appearance. Eichhorn was 12-2 with seven saves and compiled a 1.46 ERA over 98.2 innings including 47.2 innings without allowing an earned run.

An all-Miami singles final saw Christo Steyn defeat Henri de Wet and Craig Campbell/Ira Schwartz's appearance in the doubles final led the tennis team to the Rice Invitational Team Championship. UM, 25-6, received its fourth consecutive bid to nationals. Two-time All-American Steyn ended his four-year career at Miami with an 82-26 singles record.

Junior Matt Gribble became the national champion in the 100-yard butterfly for the second consecutive season. The three-time All-American led UM to an 8-3 record including a win over second-ranked SMU. The 'Canes finished 20th at nationals, and Lane Hudson joined Gribble as an All-American.

Freshman Woody Austin led the golf team with a 74.5 stroke average followed by senior Todd Roberts at 75.7. The two tied for 13th out of 130 golfers with a one-under-par 217 at the Southern Intercollegiate Championship.

HOWLING HURRICANES SUPER FANS ORGANIZATION

The Howling Hurricanes Super Fans Organization (HHSFO) is the brainchild and personal commitment of R. Edward Holmes, Administrative Vice President of Aero Systems Aviation Corp. and President of Ad/Ventures International, Inc., Aero Systems' advertising agency subsidiary, both Miami-based firms.

Holmes, who was born and raised in Miami and has been a loyal and vocal UM fan since 1941 when he was six, decided in 1978 to "really get involved" and do something to help a college football program that he felt had the potential for greatness. He promised to double his season ticket holdings, which at the time were 15 seats, each year for four years and is currently the Hurricanes' largest individual or business season ticket holder.

Besides his personal support, Holmes felt that something needed to be done to generate excitement and encourage others to rally around the Hurricanes. In putting together the HHSFO, he created a vehicle that he felt would focus local, state and national attention on the UM, garner business, community and individual support and provide free recreational opportunities for disadvantaged people of every age, sex, color or persuasion.

Holmes' initial plan was to fill the north stands with Howling Hurricanes Super Fans starting with the two center sections and working out. The HHSFO offers season tickets to business and group sponsors in blocks of 10, 25, 50, 75, 100 and more as part of a special promotional package designed to benefit everyone.

For as little as $550.00 a sponsor can get the use of a block of 10 season tickets on the north sideline; 20 green HHSFO hats, plus 20 green HHSFO T-shirts imprinted with its name/and or trademark to be worn by its employees, members or special friends to whom the tickets have been donated; its name announced at home games and the names of its key personnel flashed on the scoreboard sign; mention on the UM football radio network; and, excellent exposure to the press, television and fans alike. That's a big return on a small investment.

The UM benefits not only from the season ticket revenue but also from having enthusiastic fans in the stands to cheer them on and show strong support to the national viewing public which aids in recruiting, etc. The employees of businesses and members of groups benefit by having an opportunity to see great college football at little or no expense to them. The special friends (charitable, mentally and physically disabled, senior citizen, youth and other organizations) benefit by getting seats that might otherwise be beyond their reach, plus all the pageantry, color and excitement associated with big time college football.

All the businessman or group official has to do is sign a check because everything is handled by the HHSFO staff. Additional separate season tickets may also be acquired for their other business promotion or personal use.

"But," says Holmes, "this is by no means limited to businesses and groups. Everybody is invited to become a member of the HHSFO. It's a total involvement organization for fans who love the UM and football and are willing to put as much or more back as they get out of the experience. Individual membership is open to anyone who will take 'The Pledge' and purchase an official HHSFO membership button for $1.00. All proceeds are used to support the football program, the bands, the cheerleaders and other associated activities. There are also some very special prize drawings and surprises announced at home games for button-wearing HHSFO members."

"Our goal is to fill the entire stadium at every game with wildly enthusiastic Howling Hurricanes and to help propel Miami to a national championship."

To promote the program the HHSFO conducts a total saturation advertising campaign to reach every man, woman and child in South Florida with a message from Head Football Coach Howard Schnellenberger, "It Takes Everyone To Be #1! Can I Count On You? Get The UM Football Bug!" Bumper stickers, posters, flyers, milk cartons, ad benches, billboards, aerial signs, newspaper ads, radio and television spots, T-shirts and other souvenir items including Little Hairy Cane and Hairyetta Cane, the UM football bugs, are used to get the message across.

"Once we get the fans into the stadium, our job has just begun," said Holmes. "We want to create an atmosphere of fun and excitement that will bring them back again and again."

To liven things up, Holmes arranges to have numerous area bands perform in the north stands at each game and take part in pregame shows. Director of Bands William B. Russell coordinates the music program with his University of Miami "Band of the Hour."

HHSFO cheerleaders in the north stands and along the sidelines work with the official University of Miami cheerleading squad to direct a special Cheer-ring section made up of cheerleader representatives from all over South Florida, each outfitted in their regular uniforms.

Colorful card sections, also directed by the HHSFO cheerleaders, flash signs to the assembled throngs. Local area organizations put on exhibits in the east end zone.

A variety of choral groups from area churches and singing clubs, decked out in colorful robes and snappy attire, sing spirited songs and UM favorites from the west end zone.

And last, but not least . . . those lovable University of Miami Football Bugs, Hairy Cane and Hairyetta Cane, the #1 and #2 Super Fans, roam the sidelines, bigger than life, to meet and greet other Howling Hurricanes and cheer Miami to victory.

The Howling Hurricanes operate as an autonomous but official promotional arm of the Athletic Department. "I'm excited about this program and its potential," said Schnellenberger.

Additional information may be obtained by writing to the Howling Hurricanes Super Fans Organization, P.O. Box 66-1717, Miami Springs, Florida 33266-1717, or calling (305) 888-8885.

THE PLEDGE

This is to provide you with standard forms for requesting credentials for the coming football season.

As you know, credentials are available only to the working media. Space is limited. The normal priority system suggested by the NCAA will be observed.

I will be working with the home SID when the Hurricanes are on the road and I'd be glad to pass along your requests to him.

If at any point during the season your credential needs change, please call me at (305) 284-5802.

We are looking forward to a great football season and will welcome your coverage of the Hurricanes.

"When IMC asked me to talk to you I first talked to them."

I'm Glenn Ford, and before I agreed to talk to you about International Medical Centers I spent some time talking to them. I wanted to know exactly what they had to offer the people of South Florida and how good the quality of care was before I associated my name with IMC.

The way I see it, IMC allows people to take better care of themselves, to seek medical care when they need it and without the financial worry. They have programs for employers, senior citizens, families and individuals. And when I found out that International Medical Centers was backed by The United States Government and has been selected for special contracts like the free health care program for senior citizens (the first demo project of its kind in the country), I knew my name was in pretty good company.

Call IMC for more information and remember to get the facts. I did, and I feel good knowing you can get all your medical care for free and it's backed by our government.
